Still working on that Laura. Getting closer. Our contact at Lloyd's is also pushing. I spoke to them again this morning and their broker is still working on transferring the funds. They have to collect from each of the participating Syndicates which is what has been taking the time. They are being reminded daily that time is of the essence.

I am sure neither Lance or Bill are very pleased and that's probably an understatement, with the stance that SCA has taken. We can't believe that SCA would even consider such a ludicrous idea. It is very upsetting to us as well.

Kelly,

Have you heard anything further from Lloyd's? I am getting hammered over here and any kind of update would help! Lance is none too pleased about SCA so I am trying to bring him good news in other areas. Anything you can do would be fabulous!

Let me know,

Laura
